
Emily Lattea

MARKETING MANAGER

Emily is a versatile professional who has donned numerous hats throughout her career, displaying a strong passion for helping others and a remarkable attention to detail. With experience in various fields, including events management for catering companies and social services, she has developed a diverse skill set that sets her apart.

For the past four years, Emily has dedicated herself to making a positive impact as a caseworker in a social service agency. In this role, she focused on assisting clients in understanding their childhood experiences with the Department of Children and Family Services (DCFS). Emily worked tirelessly to provide her clients with search services, facilitating the formation or re-establishment of long-lasting relationships with their birth relatives. Her commitment to her clients' well-being and her meticulous approach to every aspect of her work make her an ideal fit for any organization.

Emily's team-player mentality shines through in her collaborative approach. She readily offers support to her colleagues during projects and events, addressing any needs that arise to ensure deadlines are met, projects are completed successfully, and events run smoothly. Her dedication to delivering results while fostering a harmonious working environment is invaluable to the teams she works with.

To support her professional journey, Emily earned a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Psychology with a minor in Art from Northern Illinois University. This academic foundation, combined with her practical experience, equips her with a deep understanding of human behavior and the ability to approach her work creatively and empathetically.

Emily's multifaceted background, coupled with her client-focused mindset and commitment to teamwork, make her a remarkable asset in any organization. With her exceptional skills, unwavering dedication, and genuine passion for helping others, Emily continues to make a lasting impact in the fields she ventures into.
